Take control of your pain

If pain is keeping you from enjoying everyday life activities, the Empi Active™ gives you a new option for controlling pain. Either used alone or in conjunction with other treatment methods, this clinically proven treatment uses mild electrical stimulation to directly treat your pain, providing safe, effective relief.

Effective

The device delivers localized electrical stimulation to quickly relieve pain.

Convenient

Lightweight and low-profile, the Empi Active can be worn comfortably under clothing.

Easy to use

Empi Active is preprogrammed for optimal pain relief. One touch activates the device.

Safe

The mild electrical stimulation provides pain relief with little to no side effects. It also eliminates the risks associated with prescription drugs or surgery.

Affordable

Empi Active (TENS) is prescribed by your doctor and covered by most insurance plans.

Why it works

The device uses transcutaneous electrical nerve stimulation (TENS), an effective pain therapy that works alone or in conjunction with other treatment methods.

With the push of a button, the device delivers mild electrical impulses that stimulate your peripheral nervous system and reduce the perception of pain.

Empi Active can provide hours of controlled pain relief so you can take control of your pain and return to a productive lifestyle.

Ask your healthcare professional if Empi Active is right for you.
